

WATERSHED STEWARDSHIP TOOLBOX WORKSHOP

Register today for the

March 1, 2005 workshop in Williamsport, PA

or the

March 16, 2005 workshop in Harrisburg, PA

The Watershed Academy, in cooperation with Western Pennsylvania Conservancy, is pleased to announce a free, one-day workshop that will introduce you to the new Watershed Stewardship Guide. This training is intended for watershed managers, watershed specialists, municipal officials, planners, and watershed organizations.

The Watershed Stewardship Guide focuses on six components:

Watershed Organization Development and Sustainability

How to identify key players in your community and forge a cooperative and collaborative relationship to work toward common goals that ultimately benefit your watershed; also addresses the bottom line on how to maintain your organization.

Securing Financial & Human Resources

How to identify and locate financial and human resources (private and government) to develop and implement your watershed management plan.

Watershed Assessments

Getting acquainted with and discovering what is going on in your watershed in terms of water quality and water quantity and the environment within its boundaries.

Developing the Watershed Management Plan

How to develop a detailed vision and strategy that identifies specific actions to restore, maintain, enhance, and protect your watershed.

Implementation

How to systematically carry out prioritized projects using financial and human resources efficiently.

Monitoring for Success

How to measure your success against established goals to evaluate and quantify progress at regular intervals in the continuing implementation of your watershed management plan.

In addition to the one-day workshop, the National Park Service Rivers and Trails Program will provide follow-up mentoring services to watershed organizations that attend.
